Euchre Party.

Miss Stella Curry entertained the "Jubilant Euchre Club" at her home on South Main street, Thursday evening. The house was artistically decorated in ferns and palms. The color scheme of green and white was tastefully carried out. After the games were finished, prizes were awarded, and an elegant lunch was served.

"Chocolate Drinking."

Miss Ella Pendleton entertained Saturday morning with a "chocolate drinking" at her home on College street, in honor of her guests, Misses Ruth Scott and Mattie Weathers, in her delightful way.

The house was decorated in palms, ferns and all kinds of potted plants.

In the hall, Miss Pendleton, looking beautiful in red silk; Miss Scott, in a superb gown of grey voile, with Persian trimmings, and Miss Mattie Weathers, in pink messaline, with lace garniture, received their guests in a most charming manner. From there, they were shown upstairs, where Misses Besse Byrd and Nancy Katherine Quisenberry, robed in white chiffon, served chocolate in the upper hall, to the delight of the guests. After passing the many customary courtesies, the guests passed into the dining room, where Miss Allan Crutcher, in blue silk, served a splendid meat course. Only those who have had the pleasure of being present can fully appreciate the enjoyable hours the hostess is capable of making her guests spend.

Among those present were: Misses Ruth Scott, Mattie Weathers, Besse Byrd, Nancy Katherine Quisenberry, Allan Crutcher, Sara Beverly Jonett, Sara Goodloe Benton, Margaret McKinley, Margaret Sphar, Florrie Smith, Richie Lane, Dee and Rena Scobee, Illa and Lucy Stewart, Cora Baldwin, Amelia Van Meter, Emma Lee Taylor, Winnie Garrett, Norma McCullom, Anna Mae Hise, Margaret Bryan, Mabel Shipp, Catherine Robb, Edna Gaitskill, Nell Allen, Anna Bean Allen, Jeannette Tracy, Ann Duerson, Sue Scrivener, Marietta Powell and Mrs. John T. H. O'Rear.

TEACH JOURNALISM AND ADVERTISING.

New Courses to Be Added to Curriculum at State University.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 14.—Prof. A. St. Clair Mackenzie, dean of the department of English at the State University, announced to the students of his classes yesterday that a class in journalism and the art of advertising will be introduced in the university in the immediate future if a sufficient number of students express a desire to take up the work. Prof. Ralph Morris, assistant instructor of English, will have charge of the work. Mr. Morris is a graduate of Harvard University and has had considerable experience along that line of work. He has also spent three years teaching in Japan. It is expected that several students will matriculate when the course is opened.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Lizzie Franklin Hadley.

Lizzie Franklin, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hadley, died at the home of her parents in Jackson Thursday afternoon, after an illness of several weeks of whooping cough and pneumonia.

The remains were brought to this city Friday night and the burial took place in the cemetery here Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. The services were conducted at the grave by Eld. J. W. Harding.

Mr. Hadley is well known in this city having been connected with the East Tenn. Telephone Company for a number of years and has a number of friends here who extend him their sympathy in his sad bereavement. This is the second child that Mr. and Mrs. Hadley have lost within the last year from whooping cough.

Mr. William Batson.

The funeral of Mr. William Batson, who died Friday afternoon will be held at his late residence on Lexington avenue Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Services conducted by Rev. O. J. Chandler. Burial in the Winchester cemetery. The following will act as pall bearers: C. I. Stewart, W. M. Massie, O. H. Flynn, C. H. Rees, John Hodgkin and Charlie Jackson.

Mr. Campbell Shaw.

The St. Louis Republic of Monday last contained the following notice:

Campbell Shaw, for many years a resident of Kirkwood, and a son of the late Captain John Shaw, died at his home, Main and Filmore streets, at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. He leaves a widow and one son. The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock this morning. The body will be sent to St. Charles, Mo., for burial.

Mr. Shaw was well known here Mr. and Mrs. Shaw and their son and Mrs. Tompkins spent the summer of 1907 in Winchester. Mrs. Shaw is the grand-daughter of Gov. Clark and was Miss Tompkins before she married. She has many relatives in this county.

Beautiful Talk.

The subject of the sermon delivered by Rev. Wm. Cumming at the First Presbyterian church Friday night was: "There's only one way to be saved, and that's God's way." It was not a sermon, in the sense in which that word is generally accepted. The discourse was a heart to heart talk, full of tenderness, and eloquent in its earnestness and simplicity; a talk such as one brother would give to another or a loving father to his children. It is such sermons as this one which will win their way into the hearts of the wayward, which would have remained story to the pleadings of the rarest eloquence.

"First In War, Etc."

The phrase, "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen," was first applied to George Washington by Henry Lee of Virginia in a eulogy delivered in the house of representatives, December 26, 1799. He had previously introduced a resolution that a committee be appointed to consider the most suitable manner of paying honor to the first president of the United States.

URGES LOCAL PARCEL POSTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Postmaster General Meyer announced today that the postal deficit for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1908, amounted to $16,910,270. The receipts were $191,478,633 (being $7,893,657 great than the previous year) and the expenditures $208,351,886. The deficit is the largest in the history of the postoffice department.

An analysis of the figures shows that $9,891,321 represents the advance in the rate of compensation authorized by Congress for employees of the railway mail service, rural delivery service, city delivery service, and assistant postmasters and clerks in postoffices. The normal increase in the revenue for several years was about 9 per cent and in 1907 4.29 per cent, the falling off in the rate of growth being due to the financial depression.

The postmaster general said that in his annual report he would call the attention of Congress to the fact that he is "firmly convinced that the establishment of a special local post confined to rural routes would tend to wipe out the postal deficit and would finally make the rural delivery self-sustaining, besides being of convenience to the farmer and a boon to the retail country merchants." There are now in operation more than 39,000 rural routes, he said, serving a population of about 18,000,000 people, and should an average of fifty-five pounds of merchandise be carried by the rural carrier on each trip throughout the year, it is estimated that $15,000,000 would be realized.

The rate would be five cents for the first pound and two cents for each additional pound up to eleven pounds, the maximum weight of a package. With the exception of a small percentage paid to postmasters of the fourth class for increased cancellations, he said, all revenue from this parcel post would be clear gain, as there would be no railroad transportation whatever, the service being confined to packages mailed by bonafide merchants and patrons of the rural routes.

"I feel," continued Mr. Meyer, "that from an administrative and business viewpoint it is most desirable that such legislation be enacted."

"Always the Same, Sometimes Better."

MIRACLES OF MODERN SURGERY POINTED OUT

Knee Joint of Dead Man is Used to Replace One on Living Person.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 14.—The wonders of experimental surgery accomplished at the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research, New York city, were outlined before the opening session of the American Philosophical Society in much greater detail than they have ever given to the public.

Among the latest achievements of science described by Dr. Alexis Carrel, who has accomplished many of the most difficult experiments at the Rockefeller Institute, was the transplanting of one dog's leg to another dog's body.

The fox terrier patient readily assumed normal control of the new leg, which was taken from a dead dog, and within three weeks the wound showed only a scar and the dog was up and around on all fours—three that were originally his own and one of the late lamented other dog.

The transplanting of cats' kidneys into other cats, even after the organs have been in cold storage 60 days, has proved entirely successful. Human arteries and jugular veins have been interchanged, and the patients have been unable to tell the difference.

Applications of the experiments performed on the dogs and cats to the rejuvenation of ailing humanity is, in the announced opinion of Dr. Carrel, entirely possible. Already the knee joint of a dead man has been used to replace the injured joint of a living person. A woman too weak to undergo a major operation has had her arteries joined to those of her husband, and, with the added strength of her husband's circulation and heart action, has successfully undergone the shock of the surgeon's knife and survived an operation under which she would have otherwise died.

CONFEDERATE CANNON.

Stolen From Camp During the Civil War to Be Used in Celebrating the Taft Victory.

The most unique cannon that will be fired by the Republicans of Kentucky in celebrating Taft's election is that in the family of Reuben Patrick of Magoffin county, which was taken from the Confederates during the Civil War and is the first breech-loading cannon ever used in an American army.

The cannon belonged to a squad of artillerymen commanded by Captain J. J. Schofield, of Iuka, Ill., and was invented by a man named Williams, a son of the inventor, now lives in Covington.

This cannon was one of the battery of six that was cast at William's request, and while being taken from Kentucky to Virginia by Colonel Tom Johnson, was stolen from the camp near Salyersville. It has been in the family of the Patricks since that time and they used it exclusively for celebrating Republican victories.

Judge Jett, the keeper of the Confederate records, has been getting information about this gun for some time, and it is probable that it will eventually become a part of the State Museum and be placed in the care of the State Historical Society for safe-keeping, so that Kentuckians who visit Frankfort may see it.

Judge Jett has been busily engaged for several months getting the roster of the company that had charge of the battery, and has been successful in learning a number of the names. He finds that they have been scattered to almost every State in the Union, as some of them have been located as far West as Colorado.

This was one of the most noted batteries in the Confederacy, having done excellent work on the battlefield in the Tennessee campaign.
